Tempo di Marche Funebre.

The piano introduction consists of two systems of music. The first system has a treble clef with a key signature of two flats and a common time signature. The melody is in the right hand, and the accompaniment is in the left hand. The second system continues the piece, with a sva (ritardando) marking above the first measure and another sva marking above the final measure.

A single line of music for the vocal part, corresponding to the first two verses of the lyrics below.

1. Rest chieftain rest, now Co - lumbia is free, Rest for thy labors are o'er . . . ;
 2. Rest noble chieftain, our nation is free, Rest on Co - lum-bia's proud shore . . .

The piano accompaniment for the first two verses, featuring a steady eighth-note accompaniment in the right hand and a bass line in the left hand.

A single line of music for the vocal part, corresponding to the final two verses of the lyrics below.

Rest in the silence free-men hath made thee, Rest on thy own native shore . . .
 Rest while freemen will ev - er deplore thee Rest with the brave, now no more . . .

The piano accompaniment for the final two verses, continuing the eighth-note accompaniment pattern.

Rest as thy glory floats over the sea, Rest for thy work is well done;
Rest chieftain rest, soon heaven will wake thee, Rest where our banner shall wave

Rest where arch-angels wait to receive thee, Rest on the soil that thou hast won.
Rest where in grace thy shadow reveals thee, Rest in the land of the brave.
